The Anthony Nolan Trust is an independent charity that actually makes a lifesaving difference. Last year, we helped save the lives of over 500 men, women and children with leukaemia.

The more donors we can recruit the more lives we can save – it's that simple.

To raise the funds to continue our lifesaving work we continually rely on the support of employees and companies throughout the UK.

There are so many ways you and your employer can easily help us. You and your colleagues could take part in our fundraising events: run 5k, abseil a building or climb Everest, the choice is yours!

You could volunteer some of your valuable time or skills, take a table at one of our hospitality events or even join our bone marrow register. Alternatively you could encourage your employer to support us through a corporate donation, cause related marketing or sponsorship.

We take our corporate partnerships seriously and in return for your support we will help you achieve maximum participation, fun and recognition. We can also help you meet your business, social responsibility and PR objectives.
